Therefore for this edition, we have pulled together a shorter newsletter, which we hope you will find helpful. An on-line copy will be placed the Bonsall Village Website at www.bonsallvillage.org. Please print a copy for any friends or neighbours who may not have internet access. The deadline for any news, views, stories, letters and diary events for the September edition is noon on Monday 24 August to mutterings@hotmail.com. Editorial Group.

Lock-down Learning!

No doubt we have all learned a thing or two during 'lock-down' and this could well apply right across the world.

What a privilege to live in Bonsall and how I have enjoyed my daily walks in God's wonderful creation. It has been a blessing to watch Spring unfold day by day and to learn new things about the natural world. Someone has said that you need to be in a really dark place in order to see the stars - millions of them sparkling in the sky above. I have learned many other things - about living simply, standing in the queue waiting to do my weekly shop; the kindness and generosity of neighbours; passing the time of day with people and so much more - "seeing the stars sparkle in dark places!" Many have found lock-down to be a dark place but I pray they too may have found encouragement in unexpected places, especially in creation and also in people. Seeking to live as a follower of Jesus, I have found His Word to be a blessing. In Matthew 11 verses 28-30, I read the following words of Jesus in The Message Bible: "Are you tired? Worn out? Burned out on religion? Come to Me. Get away with Me and you'll recover your life. I'll show you how to take a real rest. Walk with Me and work with Me - watch how I do it. Learn the unforced rhythms of grace. I won't lay anything heavy or ill-fitting on you. Keep company with Me and you'll learn to live freely and lightly." He does mean what He says!

The Apostle Paul writing from a prison cell under sentence of death, pens a delightful letter, full of joy, to Christians living in Philippi. We read in Philippians 4 verses 12-13 "I have learned to be content whatever the circumstances. I know what it is to be in need and I know what it is to have plenty. I have learned the secret of being content in any and every situation, whether well fed or hungry, whether living in plenty or in want. I can do everything through Him (Jesus) who gives me strength." I am proving that to be true too! May you too have learned new things that have caused you to stop and think and re-evaluate what is really important in life. I pray also that you may learn to know the God of creation who cares for the sparrows and has an even greater care for you!

VILLAGE NOTICEBOARD

Thank You, Thank You, Thank You

- for all the presents, cards, lovely messages, smiles and waves and for the most amazing send off in the history of Headteachers send offs! I had no idea (which is pretty amazing itself) and was totally overwhelmed by it all. I shall never forget it.

Love to you all,

Lesley xx

Food deliveries

Food parcels provided to vulnerable households and individuals stopped on 1 August. This is because the Government is no longer advising people to shield which means that anyone who has been shielding can leave their house to go food shopping. A number of alternative options are available if you are unable to shop for yourself. If you are on the official shielding list, you can get access to a priority delivery slots offered by seven supermarkets. If you have already signed up for these deliveries, they will continue beyond the end of July. NHS Volunteer Responders can pick up your shopping that you have paid for and deliver it to you. Tel: 0808 1963646 between 8am and 8pm, 7 days a week to register.

Face coverings

If anyone requires face coverings (non-medical masks, not PPE), I am making them for £3.50 each with £1 of that going to the Village Hall fund. They are two layers of woven cotton or polycotton, with a filter pocket. The design seems to be quite effective for glasses wearers as the nose pleat fits quite snugly, but this can also be improved with a rolled up tissue or cotton wool. Wearing 'masks' is not particularly comfortable I'm afraid, but I make these as soft as I can where they touch the face and they have really soft elastic for around the ears. Feedback has been very good and I have plenty of choice of cottons, from plain and dark colours, to lighter and brighter ones (see below).

Poppy Appeal

Unless things change, there will be no door-to-door selling of poppies around the village this year. But you will be able to buy them in the supermarkets.

Parish Boundary Survey

Peter Greaves describes the findings of a recent study.

Part 2: Ember Farm to Hollowchurch Way

North of Ember farm, after crossing the agricultural tracks east and west, both the boundary and footpath contour up in a zig-zag to reach the level ground at an elevation of around 335m (1100 feet), where there is the boundary between Matlock and Matlock Bath. Beyond this the boundary rises to the watershed and follows this north. The ground is level and the path and boundary continue north marked by drystone walls. Magpie Wood on the Matlock (east) side was planted in the 1950s and is surrounded by a wall with squeeze stiles for the public footpaths. Beyond the wood, to the north, the ground is disturbed by former fluorspar workings and the boundary wall has been adjusted and replaced with concrete post and wire to accommodate the open cast mining in the 1960s and 70s.

Masson Hill

There is a Bronze Age bowl barrow on Masson Hill, scheduled under the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979. This is a roughly circular squat mound with a diameter of 19m by 20m (62 x 65 feet) and a maximum height of 1.5m (5 feet). Around the outside of the mound is a 2m wide construction ditch. The barrow is a well preserved example that appears to have suffered little disturbance. The barrow commands wide views over the surrounding countryside and is mutually visible with Minninglow to the west. Masson Hill rises to 330 metres (1,082 feet) above sea level. The hill has a core of basaltic lavas, ashes and agglomerates, pierced by a plug of dolerite. The dolerite is exposed near the summit and the succession of limestones and interlayered lavas dip off to north, east and south. A series of caverns and solution caves, with associated mineralisation, are encompassed by the main area of the site, which extends from the top of Masson Hill itself, eastwards to the bottom of Matlock Dale. There are two outlying areas of the site to the south that are of mineralogical interest, and three outlying areas to the north, which contain important cave systems. The top of Masson Hill is an SSSI. Within the site are areas of high biological interest. These support species-rich grassland overlying a complex of mostly impoverished soils that are calcareous, neutral, leached acidic, or contaminated by mineral spoil. There are, additionally, areas of ancient and semi-natural broadleaved woodland on the south-east of Masson Hill and along the western side of Matlock Dale.

At the end of the opencast site, which has been restored, a drystone wall forms the boundary on the west of an agricultural access track to Nailor Lane. A footpath to the east, to Matlock, and two footpaths on the west, are accessed from the track. The boundary turns west on the southern boundary of Nailor Lane and, crossing the Lane, it then turns north west as a field boundary, reaching the Matlock/Wensley boundary, which goes north past Jugholes Wood, which is an SSSI. A footpath from Bonsall goes north to Snitterton. The boundary then turns west along the top of Stoneycliffes, with no public right of way, and then follows the public footpath west over Ley Hill and continues one field in from the scarp. Drystone walls form the boundary for this stretch. A second footpath, from Bonsall to Wensley, is crossed, which was a former miners' path for lead miners from Bonsall who worked at the Mill Close lead mine at Darley Bridge.

At Brightgate, the boundary is the drystone wall on the north side of the unclassified road from Bonsall to Winstar. This is the start of the area of Bonsall Commons, enclosed in 1776, and the public highway is alongside the boundary. After the access to Tearsall Farm is reached, the boundary is a slight depression in the field to the north of the road. This feature could be an incipient holloway or a formal boundary ditch. A footpath north west to Winstar is crossed and passes the remains of Slack Mere and lead mine and Blakelow Farm, built between 1776 and 1848. From Brightgate, all the land on the Bonsall side of the boundary, all the way to Cromford, was unenclosed until the 1770s.

The boundary leaves the road by the remains of an old lime-kiln and passes in a north westerly direction along a drystone wall and behind Bonsall Lane

Long Tor

(formerly 'Pasture') Farm and along a line of crags known as Long Tor.

The photo shows Long Tor crags above ground disturbed by lead mining, known as Winstar Bank, with fields down to the Bonsall-Winstar road. An outcrop of rock marks the boundary between Wensley and Winstar and is the location of a Neolithic rock shelter at an altitude of 339m (1,112 feet). There are twin entrances to a shallow single chambered cave with small fissures leading off it.

Neolithic Rock Shelter

At a turn south in a shallow valley, the boundary drystone wall heads for a dry valley (previously occupied by a highway) after crossing Bonsall-Winstar lane. The 1776 Enclosure Award shows a road 'Shotto Well Road' due east from here with 13 allotments, each between 0.1 - 0.2 Ha (1/4 - 1/2 acre) south of this road. There is a guide post (or 'stoop'), which has an inscription, added in 1757, "Near this place lieth Alsop of Slaley who committed suicide".

VILLAGE NOTICEBOARD

The break in the scarp utilised for funnelling livestock.

The boundary encompasses the permanent spring at Shothouse (which is the junction between Winster and Ivonbrook parishes) before rising to the scarp edge top to the west. Part way along the boundary, a natural funnel has been utilised for corralling livestock on a track linking the moor with Ivonbrook Grange buildings. Ivonbrook Grange was a dependency of Buildwas Priory and charters in 1250 show that the monks rented the pasturing of 340 sheep on Bonsall Moor.

The scarp continues until the Ible-Ivonbrook boundary, where it turns east along a field boundary created for the 1776 Enclosure Award. It then turns east and crosses Whitelow Lane, then south behind Whitelow Farm to cross Green Lane (previously known as Grange Lane).

The boundary with Ible is a fairly straight line, ultimately heading for, and using, the fault-created valley occupied by Hollowchurch Way. A public footpath to the east parallels the boundary and an intermittent stream, a tributary to the Iven Brook, all utilise Hollowchurch Way.

PARISH COUNCIL

Report of meeting on 21 July

The Park: there were a number of issues to deal with relating to the Park. Since April, this has been the responsibility of the Parish Council and the costs of repair and maintenance are met out of the Council precept that is part of each household's Council tax bill.

Vandalism: so it was disappointing to have reported that there was vandalism to two benches on the bank on Sunday 19 July; one bench was destroyed and the other damaged. Anyone witnessing such incidents is asked to report them.

Football pitch and trees: Councillors agreed to accept a quote from Valley View Landscapes for filling the large holes in the football pitch and reseeding it. For the future, additional goalpost holes will be dug to enable the goalmouth areas to be moved to reduce wear in one location. Councillors also agreed to seek quotes for removal of a dead elm on the bank above the vehicle park.

Former ducking stool/abandoned car in vehicle park: Cllr J Smith said that this was the remains of the equipment used for Carnival. It could no longer be used and was a hazard in the current location. After discussion, it was agreed that the Parish Council would seek to arrange for removal without charge. A car appears to have been abandoned in the vehicle park near the entrance; it was agreed to ask the District Council to apply the statutory procedure for removal.

Walling: Councillors welcomed the fact that children were back and allowed full use of the park area. This means that skateboard tracks are being constructed again and it was noted that there is a risk of accidental damage to the stone walls as has occurred previously. Councillors asked parents to please ensure that children avoid any damage to the walls as part of their play.

Lorries and commercial vehicles using the Bank: Councillors reported recent damage to vehicles and walling caused by lorries or long wheel based commercial vehicles attempting to use the Bank. It was considered that existing signage is ineffective and is ignored by drivers following Satnav systems. County Councillor Ratcliffe said that she would pass on the complaint to the County Council with a view to Satnav system operators being advised, and to arranging a site visit to discuss new locations for signage.

Motocross at former White Low Mine: the Clerk reported that since the last meeting, an Enforcement Notice had been served by the Peak District National Park Authority requiring the current motocross activity to cease by 21 August. There was a right of appeal, but the PDNPA had advised that to date no appeal had been lodged. It was agreed to review the position in relation to any appeal at the next meeting.

Slinter Top Quarry noise impact report: a report prepared by consultants for the quarry as part of the current planning application was considered, along with a draft resolution commenting on it. The resolution was approved; it is a long and detailed submission and full details are available on the Council website.

Caterpillar at the Cross: the Council had received a request from a resident for any thoughts as to where the children's pebbles stones and shells that were painted during lockdown, currently around The Cross, might be permanently mounted 'as a reminder of this strange year'. Councillors felt that the school might be the best location, but any other ideas are welcome.

Full details of the meeting can be found in the minutes on the Parish Council page of the village website at www.bonsallvillage.org. The next meeting of the Parish Council is at 7.30pm on Tuesday 18 August. If you have any issues to be raised at the meeting please contact the Clerk Tony Payne with details by Monday 10 August.
